Take. Dimon, JPMorganChase's CEO since 2006 [1], funds a $19.8 billion technology budget [2] yet admits no outside agent into the company [3]. Evidence: he books $2 billion of AI cost against about $2 billion of benefit [4]. Action: open on his "tip of the iceberg" line [5]. Avoid: an outside agent pitch; he says none comes inside [3].

QUESTIONS THAT CLOSE GAPS

1. You called AI "the tip of the iceberg" [5]; which executive habits has it changed first?
   Decides: if prep is live. Ask: Dimon.
2. Who decides which AI tools reach executives, when outside agents stay out [3]?
   Decides: the gate. Ask: Dimon, or Lori Beer, Global CIO [6].
3. Petno and Rohrbaugh became co-presidents in June [7]; how are they being prepared?
   Decides: if the handover creates demand. Ask: Dimon.
4. You want managers working out how to use AI [8]; how do you see that happening?
   Decides: the success measure. Ask: Dimon.
5. What would make a second 30-minute conversation worth your time?
   Decides: the ask. Ask: Dimon.

WHO THEY ARE

- Role: Chairman and CEO of JPMorganChase; CEO since January 1, 2006 [1].
- Path: Bank One Chairman and CEO from 2000 [9].
- The organization: the consumer bank serves 80 million individuals, families and businesses [10].

SIGNALS AND WHAT TO DO WITH THEM

OBSERVABLE	WHAT TO DO WITH IT
"We need to have the best tech in the world" [13]	His priority is technology that drives margin; tie briefing to that
Talyx offers AI meeting-prep tools for executive teams [14]	Bridge: executives walk in briefed, inside the bank's own controls
Co-presidents named Jun 25 [7]	A fresh reason to talk, not a deadline

BEHAVIORAL PROFILE

WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS	YOUR MOVE
Pace and control: Directive: "we are not gonna allow" [3]	Lead with the outcome in one sentence; they decide fast and dislike preamble.
Appetite for detail: Cites $2 billion cost, $2 billion benefit [4]	Headline, two proof points, a source on request.
Appetite for risk: $19.8 billion spend, yet "prepared" [15]	Pair the upside with the safeguard in the same sentence.

WHO DECIDES

- Decision maker: Not determined; Lori Beer, Global CIO, manages the $19.8 billion technology budget [6].
- The gate: no outside agent comes inside the company [3].
- Relationship holder: Not determined

STRONGEST CASE AGAINST

- Against: Dimon blocks outside agents [3], and Beer calls agent flow "the underlying flow of how we do business" [6]. Also, a source says he stays about three more years [16], and an analyst says his retirement path "lengthened a bit" [17].
- Reverses if: he or Beer names a route for approved outside tools.

MEETING ANGLE

A. This meeting

- Frame: how his leaders prepare, from his "tip of the iceberg" line [5]; not a pitch.
- Lands: dollars against dollars, as in $2 billion for $2 billion [4].
- Repels: any request for outside agent access [3].
- What to bring: one page turning his agent rule [3] into briefing rules.
- The ask: 30 minutes with him or the executive technology owner, within a month [14] · Fallback: an introduction to Beer's team [6].
- Stop if: he says executive work is closed to outside tools.

B. Meeting two

- Meeting two: one briefing for the new co-presidents' office [7].
- Meeting three: a trial inside the bank's own environment [3].

C. After the meeting

- Capture: who he names as owner of executive technology.

MEETING SCRIPT

Facts select the moves; read the room, never the record · Jamie Dimon, JPMorganChase · Prepared Oct 14, 2026

1. OPEN

- Hook: You called AI "the tip of the iceberg" [5]. I want to ask what it has changed in how your leaders prepare.
- Credibility: Talyx builds AI meeting-prep and knowledge tools for executive teams [14].
- Insight: your rule keeps outside agents out [3]; prep that runs inside your controls fits that rule.
- Rule: after the hook, ask and stop; let him fill the silence.

2. QUESTION ORDER

- Story: You called AI "the tip of the iceberg" [5]; which executive habits has it changed first?
- Process: You want managers working out how to use AI [8]; how do you see that happening?
- Gate: Who decides which AI tools reach executives, when outside agents stay out [3]?
- History: Petno and Rohrbaugh became co-presidents in June [7]; how are they being prepared for it?
- Commitment: What would make a second 30-minute conversation worth your time?

3. OBJECTIONS: NAME IT, THEN ANSWER

- Their likely objection: "No outside agent comes inside." Agreed; I am asking for 30 minutes, not access [3].
- Their likely objection: "Our tech team builds this." Then I want to learn who owns executive tools [6].
- Their likely objection: "AI returns are hard to prove." You set $2 billion of cost against $2 billion of benefit [4]; we can measure one team's prep that way.

4. CLOSE

- Restate: ask what would make it an easy yes, then say it back in his words.
- Real deadline: none found; the June 25 co-president move is context, not a deadline [7].
- The ask: 30 minutes with him or the owner of executive technology, within a month · Fallback: an introduction to Beer's team [6].
- Follow-up: a one-page briefing rule set, by Oct 17.

5. READ THE ROOM (WATCH, DO NOT ASSUME)

- Fast, wants the answer: give the outcome in one sentence, then stop [3].
- Asks for terms and data: headline, two proof points, a source on request [4].
- Talks about people: tie it to the new co-presidents' roles [7].
- Big picture, ideas: pair the upside with the safeguard in one sentence [15].

6. IF IT STALLS

- The move: ask how the co-presidents' new roles change who owns executive technology [7].
- The move: ask what peers in his Business Roundtable seat are doing with AI [18].

7. GUARDRAILS

- Rule: promise no integration with JPMorganChase systems and no result; make no claim about its AI plans; US posture.
- Never say: "Does that make sense?"; "Is this helpful?"; "No pressure"; "You'd know better than me"; "Just checking in".

Next step: send the one-page briefing rule set by Oct 17, 2026.
