Jane Fraser

Citigroup | Chair and Chief Executive Officer, CEO since 2021 | New York

Meeting: First introduction, Oct 15, 2026 | Prepared for: Founder / principal, Talyx | Depth: standard | Sources: 8 of 12 source types, 15 cited | Status LIMITED | Prepared Oct 13, 2026

Take. Jane Fraser, Citi's Chair and CEO since October 2025 [1], meets you two days after Citi's best third-quarter revenue in a decade [2], and holds her bank to results, not effort [3]. Evidence: [1], [2], [3]. Action: open on Citi's Q3 result [2] and Fraser's results standard [3], then offer one preparation outcome. Avoid: a general AI-tools pitch, or Citi's regulators' timetable [11].

QUESTIONS THAT CLOSE GAPS

1. You wrote that Citi is "not graded on effort"; which results should leaders be better prepared for? [3]
   Decides: the outcome to measure. Ask: Fraser.
2. AI and automation benefits exceeded their investment this year; how do leaders prepare for external meetings today? [10]
   Decides: whether this is a real gap. Ask: Fraser or her chief of staff.
3. Who else at Citi would weigh in on a 30-minute follow-up, and how do they see it?
   Decides: who must say yes. Ask: Fraser.
4. With up to 20,000 roles in the plan, which part of the transformation is furthest from done? [5]
   Decides: where your offer fits. Ask: Fraser.
5. Who should I meet next, and when, if this fits what you are trying to do?
   Decides: the second meeting. Ask: Fraser.

WHO THEY ARE

- Role: Chair and CEO of Citi; CEO since March 2021 [1].
- Path: joined Citi 2004; ran Latin America, the Private Bank, Global Consumer Bank; ex-McKinsey [4].
- The organization: "a fundamentally different organization than it was in 2008" [6]; Q3 revenue $23.8 billion [2].
- What changed: Oct 13, 2026, best Q3 revenue in a decade [2]; Jan 2026, a plan to cut up to 20,000 roles [5]; Oct 2025, Chair and CEO combined [6].
- Recent wins: Oct 13, 2026, Q3 return on tangible common equity of 11.5% [7].

IN THEIR WORDS

- Fraser's staff memo, Jan 14, 2026: "We are not graded on effort." [3] "We are judged on our results." [3]
- Q3 release, Oct 13, 2026: "Our overall performance continues to demonstrate the disciplined and consistent execution of our strategy." [9]
- Regulators, Jul 2026: timing is "fully at the discretion of our regulators." [11]

SIGNALS AND WHAT TO DO WITH THEM

OBSERVABLE	WHAT TO DO WITH IT
Her priority: "judged on our results" [3]; the gap: AI benefits are reported bank-wide [10]	She weighs a meeting by its result for Citi leaders; name one.
Your offer: meeting preparation for executive teams [15]	The bridge: leaders walk into meetings with the outcome framed.
The trigger: Q3 results landed Oct 13, RoTCE 11.5% [7]	Momentum makes a 30-minute ask easy; a program ask is not.

MEETING APPROACH

WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS	YOUR MOVE
Pace and control: directive memo [3], 20,000 role cuts [5]	Match their pace; propose once, then ask.
How they take recognition: no record yet	No read
Appetite for detail: cites RoTCE 11.5%, Wealth up 15% [7][8]	Headline, two proof points, a source on request.
Appetite for risk: no record yet	No read
How they take disagreement: no record yet	No read

WHAT THE RECORD SHOWS	YOUR MOVE
How they keep score: “best third-quarter revenue in a decade”; shares up [2][13]	One peer reference is useful; more is noise.

Evidence tier: medium: it sets how far page 3 goes

WHO DECIDES

- Decision maker: Jane Fraser, Chair and CEO of Citi since October 2025 [1].
- The gate: Not determined
- Relationship holder: her peer network runs through the Financial Services Forum [12].

STRONGEST CASE AGAINST

- Against: the 2020 Fed consent order is still in force, so regulatory work may crowd out a new topic [11].
- Reverses if: she asks how executive preparation fits the AI work already under way.

MEETING ANGLE

This meeting

- Frame: Citi leaders arriving prepared, in her terms; not a pitch.
- Lands: a named result with two proof points [3][7].
- Repels: effort talk [3]; the regulators’ timetable [11].
- What to bring: a one-page example tied to the AI benefits she reported [10].
- The ask: 30 minutes with Fraser or the leader she names [14] · Fallback: 15 minutes with that leader. Stop if: she says leader preparation is covered.

Meeting two

- Meeting two: a working session with the leader she names, on one real upcoming meeting [10]. Meeting three: a review against the result she chose [3].

After the meeting

- Capture: who she names, and the result she counts as success.

MEETING SCRIPT

Facts select the moves; read the room, never the record · Jane Fraser, Citigroup · Prepared Oct 13, 2026

1. OPEN

- Hook: Congratulations on the best third-quarter revenue in a decade. I noticed you tell Citi it is judged on results, and that is the standard I will use today. [2][3]
- Credibility: I run Talyx, which builds AI meeting-prep and knowledge tools for executive teams [15].
- Insight: Citi is cutting up to 20,000 roles while raising the bar [5]; preparation is staff time, and that is the gap we close.
- Rule: keep it to her results, listen first, and answer in her words.

2. QUESTION ORDER

- Story: You wrote that Citi is "not graded on effort"; which results do you most want Citi leaders better prepared for? [3]
- Process: Your AI and automation benefits exceeded their investment this year; how do leaders prepare for external meetings today? [10]
- Gate: Who else at Citi would weigh in on a 30-minute follow-up, and how do they see it?
- History: With up to 20,000 roles in the plan, which part of the transformation is furthest from done? [5]
- Commitment: Who should I meet next, and when, if this fits what you are trying to do?

3. OBJECTIONS: NAME IT, THEN ANSWER

- Their likely objection: "We already have AI work under way." Agree, then say ours is one use of it, for leaders' meetings, and ask where it is not reaching [10].
- Their likely objection: "We are cutting costs, not adding tools." Agree it is a hard year; offer one result a leader can judge in a single meeting [5].
- Their likely objection: "Send it to my team." Say yes, and ask whom she names and by when [14].

4. CLOSE

- Restate: ask what would make a second meeting an easy yes, then say it back in her words [3].
- Real deadline: none found in the record; offer a date within the month and let her move it [14].
- The ask: 30 minutes with Fraser or the leader she names · Fallback: a 15-minute call with that leader.
- Follow-up: send the one-page example the next day [10].

Next step: send the one-page example by Oct 16, 2026.

5. READ THE ROOM (WATCH, DO NOT ASSUME)

- Fast, wants the answer: match her pace, make one proposal, then ask.
- Asks for terms and data: give the headline, two proof points, and a source on request.
- Talks about people: ask whom she wants in the follow-up.
- Big picture, ideas: link the ask to her results standard, and stop.

6. IF IT STALLS

- The move: return to her words, "judged on our results" [3], and ask which single result would justify 15 minutes.
- The move: offer the one-page example tied to the AI benefits she reported [10].

7. GUARDRAILS

- Rule: promise no outcomes, make no claims about Citi's regulators, and cite only public facts.
- Never say: "Does that make sense?"; "Is this helpful?"; "No pressure"; "You'd know better than me"; "Just checking in".
